Zero Gravity Solutions, Inc.'s Wholly-Owned Subsidiary, BAM Agricultural Solutions, Inc., Signs an Exclusive Distribution Agreement for the Republic of South Africa

Commitment to Purchase Minimum of 20,000 gallons of BAM-FX® in Year One, Commencing One Month after Approval for Commercial Sale

BOCA RATON, Fla.—(February 2, 2017)—Zero Gravity Solutions, Inc. (“ZGSI” or the “Company”) (Pink Sheets: ZGSI), an agricultural biotechnology public company commercializing its technology derived from and designed for Space with significant applications for agriculture on Earth, announced that its wholly-owned subsidiary, BAM Agricultural Solutions, has signed an exclusive distribution agreement (the “Agreement”) with Bison Africa Capital (Pty) Ltd. (“Bison”) and its Executive Director, Mohale S. Masithela.

Under the terms of the Agreement, Bison will be responsible for importing BAM Agricultural Solutions’ product, BAM-FX, and will supervise the sales, marketing, legal and administrative tasks necessary to introduce and sell BAM-FX in South Africa. The Agreement will be effective one month after BAM-FX is approved for commercial sale by the South African Department of Agriculture, which is estimated to take approximately three months.

“We believe that the establishment of a robust distribution system directed by successful and well-known business leaders in South Africa represents an opportunity to develop a considerable revenue stream and also provides significant support to small, local farmers and larger growers”, stated Glenn Stinebaugh, ZGSI’s President and Chief Executive Officer and President and Chief Executive Officer of BAM Agricultural Solutions.

“We are eager to introduce BAM-FX to further develop South Africa’s agricultural industry through the adoption of the latest agricultural technology and products. We believe that BAM-FX can potentially increase yields and the nutritive value of crops in Africa”, stated Mohale Masithela, of Bison Africa Capital (Pty) Ltd.
